

SimLEARN Certified Centers

New Facility Simulation Certification applicants are now required to first apply for the SimLEARN Innovation Center for Education (SLICE) network. This program establishes a partnership between SimLEARN and the participating institution for the academic purposes of improving outcomes for our Veterans through standardized simulation-based education and training on key national issues. Being a part of the SLICE network enables centers to share a multitude of resources, including the ability to teach or request pre-designed courses. There is NO Cost to join or to use these resources and participation is voluntary.

SimLEARN announced that Facility Simulation Certification Applications are due on December 1, 2022. The application has been simplified and is now electronic, for easier access and faster turn-around results. Important information including the application, resources and various links is located at the following website: Learning Management - SimLEARN Innovation Center for Education \(SLICE\) Network \(sharepoint.com\) Be sure to look in the "Documents" tab for details on requirements and the overall process.
